

Mark Major is the Senior Strategy Director for the non-profit Kuehne Climate Center (since 2023). Mark has worked on sustainable transport for 28 years. During this he has advised multiple countries (e.g. China, Chile, Costa Rica, Morocco...) as well as organisations such as Environmental Defence Fund (EDF) and the Sustainable Low Carbon Transport Partnership (SLOCAT).

For 16 years he worked for the European Commission in Brussels (1999-2015) inter alia as Team Leader for Sustainable Urban Mobility Policy, and was a Visiting Professor, non-resident at the Chinese Academy of Transport Science (Ministry of Transport) in Beijing (2003-2014).

He has an MBA in International Management (USA) and a Bachelor's degree (with Honours) in Civil Engineering (UK).

Mark speaks English, French and Spanish and lives with his family near Girona in the north of Spain.