Partnerships: how to improve and review their contributions to SDG implementation - National level

Reaching the most vulnerable is mission-critical for Agenda 2030

- Doing more of the same will not get us there
- Cross-sector partnerships have huge potential to deliver the innovation needed
- Country level multi-stakeholder platforms for partnership provide a systematic approach to getting partnerships to the necessary scale

1. Role of partnership platforms
2. Meaningful participation of the most vulnerable
Role of partnership platforms

Partnership Platforms:

- ongoing mechanism to catalyse collaboration for development
- convene government, business, CSOs, donors and other development actors around a particular issue in line with country development plans / Agenda 2030
- facilitate innovative collaborative approaches
- directly broker and support new partnering action

As key nodes in country level systems...

- Draw from and influence the wider country level system
- Common reporting frameworks for review
- Independent validation of review / performance data
- Grievance mechanisms
- Centres of learning
Meaningful participation of the most vulnerable

- Agenda 2030 focus on those left behind
- Voices of the most vulnerable (including children) heard directly in relation to partnerships and review processes
- Leverage social accountability approaches such as World Vision’s, Citizen Voice and Action
